Description

Starting point: top station of Riffelsee gondola. From there, turn left to walk around Lake Riffelsee, then cross a river and at the next junction follow the signposts to "Fuldaer Höhenweg" [high-level trail]. Follow the continuously steep path on the left, sometimes up and sometimes down, across several streams until you reach the only critical point of the hike – the Vordere Köpfl. There are rocky and steep sections to master here, however, the path is safely secured with steel ropes and can be accomplished as long as you are surefooted. From then on it is a steady downhill climb to the cirque [Kar] and then a little further uphill to the catered mountain hut Taschachhaus. Catch a fantastic glimpse of the Taschach glacier world from a viewing point on the mountain's crest just above the mountain hut. The descent takes you down to the goods cable lift and from then on along the agricultural road to Taschach Alm and further on to the valley station of Riffelseebahn in Mandarfen. For comfort, you can also complete the last 6 km from the goods cable lift by mountain bike. For more information please see www.pitztal.com.
